

AC Sport Brace™

AIRCAST®
INCORPORATED

acromioclavicular support (06F)

The AC Sport Brace is designed for the functional management of grade I, II, and III grade acromioclavicular separations. Using an aircell, the brace provides uniform pneumatic compression to the acromioclavicular joint while supporting the arm and shoulder.

The AC Sport Brace features:

- Pneumatic compression to reduce separation swelling and pain
- Light, comfortable, arm sling for additional shoulder compression
- Adjustable straps and repositionable aircell for customized fit
- One-size-fits-all design

INSTRUCTIONS:

- 1 Wrap waist band around waist with shoulder strap centered in back. Secure waist straps snugly (Fig. 1). (For a more comfortable fit, the waist band length may be cut shorter.)
- 2 Reposition D ring strap on waist band. Secure over hip, on same side as injured shoulder, at a 45° angle (Fig. 2).
- 3 Wrap shoulder strap up and over injured shoulder. Insert end of shoulder strap through D ring on waist band and pull through. Hold shoulder strap snug, pull across front, and secure end to waist band (Fig. 2).
- 4 Adjust aircell position by sliding aircell along shoulder strap (Fig. 3).
- 5 Adjust tension for proper compression of shoulder by repositioning D ring strap.
- 6 Insert arm into arm sling. Lift arm sling strap, raising injured shoulder slightly, and secure to shoulder strap (Fig. 4) — this provides additional shoulder compression.
